RULER OF JAPAN CRITICALLY ILL.

Emperor Suffering from Nephritis and Sinking.

Members of Cabinet and Princes of Imperial Family Summoned.

TOKIO, July 20.—Mutsuhito, the Emperor of Japan, is critically ill. The members of the cabinet and the princes of the imperial family have been summoned to the palace and it is generally believed that His Majesty is sinking.

The court physicians in attendance on His Majesty at 9 o'clock this morning diagnosed the case as acute nephritis. Another bulletin issued from the palace at 3 o'clock this afternoon was as follows: "The emperor has been suffering from diabetes since 1904. This developed into chronic kidney trouble in 1906.

A bulletin issued by the attending physicians gives the history of the emperor's illness as follows:

"Since July 14 His Majesty has been suffering from intestinal trouble. Great drowsiness followed the early attacks, this symptom increasing rapidly. July 18 His Majesty became unconscious and his brain was affected. On the evening of the nineteenth the fever suddenly increased, showing a temperature of 104.7. The pulse rate was 104 and the respiration 38."

The news of the critical illness of His Majesty was announced at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon and permeated through the entire empire very rapidly. At 3 p. m. the entire city of Tokio was impressively quiet. An enormous crowd assembled about the newspaper bulletin boards.

It was announced later in the morning that uraemia had developed. The weather is very hot, the thermometer registering 90 degrees in the shade. His Majesty's bed has been moved to a sitting room in the palace. The empress remained at the bedside of her husband during the day.

The Crown prince, Yoshihito, who is recovering from a case of chicken pox and is still confined to his bed, received news of his father's illness this morning. He has not yet been able to visit the palace.

The imperial princes have been summoned from their summer residences and together with all the notables at present in the capital repaired to the palace, where they await the latest news from the sick chamber.

It became known today that His Majesty was unconscious from his illness yesterday.

The city of Tokio tonight is silent. All theatrical productions and the playing of music has been stopped. Special religious services are being held in the Buddhist temples in this city and in other large centres, for His Majesty's recovery.

The royal patient is not entirely unconscious, but is in a condition of extreme drowsiness. The physicians in attendance have not given up all hope.

The change for the worse came suddenly Friday evening. The emperor was talking to his wife, when he suffered a sudden collapse. The empress and a number of court leaders remained at the bedside throughout the night.

Japanese newspapers today published editorial articles praying for the speedy recovery of His Majesty and setting forth their loyal sentiments to him. They refer in grateful terms to the emperor's splendid service to his country.

His Imperial Majesty, Mutsuhito, the one hundred and twenty first Emperor of Japan, was born at Kioto November 3, 1852, and is the second son of the late Emperor Komei. He was nominated prince imperial and heir apparent November 10, 1860; succeeded to the throne on the death of his father in 1867, and was crowned at Kioto October 12, 1868. Eleven days later he chose the name of Meiji, to designate the era of his reign. He was married February 9, 1869, to the third daughter of Ichijo Tadaka, a noble of the first rank. His wife was born in 1850 and is known as Her Imperial Majesty Haruko.

The present heir apparent to the Japanese throne is Yoshihito, the third son of Mutsuhito, who was born August 31, 1879. He was nominated heir apparent in 1887 and proclaimed crown prince in 1888. Prince Yoshihito has served in the army and navy of his country and in 1909 became both a lieutenant general and a vice admiral. May 10, 1900, he was married to Princess Sadako, fourth daughter of Prince Kujo Michitaka. The crown prince has three sons, the youngest of which was born in 1905.

While the Emperor of Japan has been the ruler of his country for the past 43 years, a period during which the empire has made remarkable industrial and political progress, he has lived a life of comparative seclusion and has rarely appeared in the conduct of affairs of state. He has worked through his ministers and advisers.

An attempt on the life of His Majesty was reported in 1911. Twelve

QUIET PREVAILS IN NEW BEDFORD.

Textile Council to Start Work of Sending Out Relief.

Weavers' Union to Take Action Tonight on Report of Delegates.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 20.—The police report that a tour of the city among the working mills this morning discloses the fact that it is the quietest day since the strike was inaugurated. There were few people gathered at any of the mill gates, and where the least number heretofore at the Butler has been 200, there were so few this morning that it would not have been difficult to count them quickly.

Organizer Perry, in charge of the Industrial Workers of the World strike here, has not yet applied for permission to hold the parade planned by the Industrial Workers for today. Chief Mason is determined to break up any parade and says: "If any Industrial Workers of the World organizer or any other labor leader gives utterance to any inflammatory remarks which would tend to incite any of the strikers to violence I shall have him arrested." A mass meeting of Industrial Workers of the World was held this morning at the south end, as usual.

The names from the weavers' union of members most suitable for the work of collecting, in connection with the plans of the textile council to have a large committee composed of the members of the different unions, will be selected by a committee and sent to the textile council, which will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock. This meeting of the council will begin work on the matter of sending out relief committees.

The only really big labor meeting planned for today is that of the weavers' union tonight to act on the report of the delegates, who were assured by the manufacturers that they would not grade.

On account of the strikers being paid off at the mills this morning, there was no meeting of the Industrial Workers of the World. At the mills the people were paid off in small groups and there was absolutely no demonstration of any sort.

There were no new developments in the big cotton mill strike in this city during the morning hours. The paying off was conducted quietly, the weavers being paid for all the cloth that they had actually woven, the cloth that ad been taken off, and that remaining on the looms. Some mills gave their weavers two pay envelopes, covering the cloth that had been taken off and that remaining on the looms.

The manufacturers have not arranged a meeting to consider the Industrial Workers of the World communication, or other matters.

Chairman Bartholomew of the Industrial Union held an interview with Secretary Duffy of the weavers, and

GUN MEN PROBABLY HIRED BY ROSE.

Murder Leads Deeper Into Police Department.

Shapiro's Story May Soon Cause Round-Up of Gambler's Slayers.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The gang of gun men and blackjackers who riddled Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, with bullets is believed by detectives today to have been procured by "Bald Jack" Rose under pressure of the "police system" which was seeking to effectually close the mouth of Rosenthal against further charges that gamblers had to divide their gains with the police.

Rose is a close friend of Police Lieutenant Becker, who was yesterday removed as the head of the "strong arm squad" which handles the gambling situation in the city. District Attorney Whitman has gleaned enough information to convince him that Rose, at the suggestion or knowledge of the police, hired some of Jack Zelig's gang of gun fighters to make away with Rosenthal. The market rate for killing men by some of the East Side gun men is said to be $2500.

From William Shapiro, driver of the "murder car," District Attorney Whitman and private detectives employed by him, because he believed the police have shown no inclination to unearth the crime, have learned that after the shooting the murders loafed around the scene of the crime with no apparent fear of arrest. Shapiro has told enough details to cause the public prosecutor to believe that the private detectives will soon round up the gang of gun fighters whom the police have promised to arrest daily, but have failed to do so.

That the gambling plot and murder plot will lead far deeper into the police department is now generally believed.

Shapiro told the prosecutor and the detectives that he picked up "Bald Jack" Rose and two men—Ilseky and Schapiro—by appointment on Fourteenth street, and on the way up town there were several changes made in the party. Shapiro says that after the

NEW RUSSO-JAPANESE TREATY.

Will Establish a Defensive Alliance Between These Nations.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 19.—The signature is impending of a pact establishing a defensive alliance between Russia and Japan. The actual agreement was fully concluded a fortnight ago, and likely will be signed for Japan by Baron Motono, the Japanese ambassador to Russia, who was its negotiator and prime mover.

The agreement consists of two parts, one dealing with the delimitation of the sphere of influence of Russia and Japan in Mongolia and Manchuria, which is similar in scope and character to the Anglo-Russian accord of August 31, 1907, regarding Persia; the second with the duty of the two powers for a joint defence in case either power is attacked.

It is a matter of common knowledge that Japanese diplomacy unremittingly has urged upon Russia the immense value that would follow such close co-operation as now has been established, especially since Great Britain and Russia drew together and made it feasible and logical.

The new agreement is an amplification and consolidation of the treaty of Portsmouth between Russia and Japan. Articles 3 to 8 will be virtually expunged and re-stated in a form confirming to Japan her Liao-Tung peninsula lease, allowing both signatories greater military freedom in their respective spheres, precluding neutral nations engaging in Manchurian development and sanctioning the building of a new strategic railway.

Japan will have confirmed all of her territory south of parallel 44, east longitude 116, giving her paramount influence over and enabling her to dominate Pekin, while Russia will have complete liberty of action in all of the Chinese territory to the exterior of the Great Wall west of the Japanese zone. Japan also formally accepts the Russian 12-mile limit in territorial water, and supports the construction by Russia of the Kiukhta Railway in Siberia.

RAMMED BY BATTLESHIP.

Three of Crew of German Torpedo Boat Killed in Night Attack

KIEL, July 19.—German battleship Hessen rammed a torpedo boat while the smaller craft was crossing the bows of the big warship during a night attack off this port. Three members of the torpedo boat crew were killed. The damaged vessel is being towed to Kiel harbor for repairs.

AN INCREASE OVER 1911.

Bank Exchanges in Leading Cities Show Growth Over Former Years.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Dun's Review says today: 'Bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States, as compiled for Dun's Review, aggregate $2,803,056,085, an increase of 6.0 per cent as compared with the same week last year and 10.8 per cent compared with the corresponding week in 1910.

OF GOLD THREAD AND SILK.

Novelty in Women's Stockings Proper Thing for the Fall.

NEW YORK, July 19.—According to a fashion paper, women's stockings made from real gold thread and silk are to be the proper thing abroad this autumn. They come from Vienna and cost $25 a pair. Another novelty will be black or white silk stockings, which, above the ankles, will be worked in elaborate designs, such as a peacock with its tail outstretched in gorgeous colors. To enable these embellishments to be visible, shorter skirts are to be insisted upon by the dressmakers, it is announced.

ENGINEERS' WAGES.

[New York Tribune.]

Evidence introduced before the arbitration commission in behalf of the railroad engineers thus far tends to show rather that they deserve to be well paid than that they are not well paid now, or that any special change in recent conditions calls for an increase of pay. Much was made of the hazards of the employment, and Mr. Stone's statement in opening for the union that in 13 years more than 2,000 of its members had met their death through accidents in the service was impressive. But such a loss of life calls for increasing safety appliances more clearly than for increasing pay. With a device in service for the automatic stopping of a train entering a block already occupied, such as the two most recent fatal railway accidents show to be the great need of the railway world today, both the danger and the strain of the engineer's life would be materially reduced.

Present tendencies in railroading are improving the engineer's lot. On electrified lines his work is so much easier that engineers all seek assignment to electric trains and the railroad companies object to paying such wages for operating them as they have paid for running a steam locomotive. Increased speed is spoken of as one ground for demanding increased pay. But increased speed, to judge from the testimony of engineers themselves, has already brought its rewards for the engineer with the necessary skill to operate a flyer. Engineers of fast trains earn as much as $2,300 a year. Such a figure does not create the impression that the engineers as a whole are so under-paid as to be justified in striking for more money.

PURITAN LIFE

Insurance Company

AS

DESCRIBED BY EXPERTS

HENRY MOIR,
Eminent Consulting Actuary of New York, in Report to Stockholders February 1912, says:

"Your affairs are being economically administered; your statement gives evidence of clean upright methods of business; your affairs are conducted on the most approved scientific method; every department of your business is under the control of scientific experts who can claim to have not only scientific knowledge but also practical experience."

From Report of Rhode Island Insurance Department, After Examination of the Company, April, 1912:

"The books are in excellent condition, well adapted to the company's needs, and they afford a clear and comprehensive account of the company's transactions. There is every indication that this company is well, economically and conservatively managed. Its experience has proved that its risks have been carefully selected by competent examiners."

MILES M. DAWSON,
Well Known Consulting Actuary, Who Was the Consulting Actuary of the Famous Armstrong Committee of New York (May, 1912), Says:

"Attention is called to the existing state of facts only to show how complete is the protection of the policyholders. (Reference is here made to the policyholders' surplus.) The conclusion to be drawn from a study of the condition of the company as it is today is that a sound and permanent foundation has been laid by the management upon which the larger structure of the future may be erected."

The Spectator of New York, June 27th, 1912, Says:

"It has met all its obligations promptly and given good service to its policyholders. It has steadily increased its amount of insurance in force, its premium income and its surplus for the protection of policyholders."

Best's Life Insurance Reports for 1912: Says

"It is solvent with a substantial surplus over capital and all other liabilities and its actuarial methods are sound."

The Market World and Chronicle of New York, June 29th, 1912, Says:

"(The Puritan) has for some time past seemed to us typical of what a new company should aim to be and do in the days of its beginnings. We have had occasion to study its recent affairs with considerable attention and we have found in the conduct of them those marks of conservatism, economy and devotion to the permanent interests of the policyholders that are the signs of an institution well founded and developing surely and soundly."

THE NEW BEDFORD STRIKE.

Statement of the Employers in Regard to Dissatisfaction Among the Workers.

[New York Times.]

The New Bedford strikers are obstructing by violent and unlawful and inhumane methods the earning by others of wages which they decline. Innocent and guilty suffer alike, for the mills have stopped altogether, instead of closing merely the departments affected by the strike. Not all of the strikers know why they struck, and it is sure that some of the others made idle have no idea of what the unions are demanding.

The strike is simply for the principle on which unions are founded; that is, equal pay for all, irrespective of results. Some weavers are better than others, and naturally are worth more. Instead of refusing to employ the incompetent or careless, the owners pay according to the quality of the work, paying less for defective cloth, so a yard of cloth is a yard to the union, regardless of what the owners are able to realize for their product.

It is recognized that cloth varies in quality, and wholesale contracts customarily contain clauses requiring acceptance of a certain percentage of "seconds." In many cases "seconds" are sold at a price much lower than first quality. But the unions will not recognize any variations of quality in their members. Payment must be made by measure, and alike for good and bad workers. This was so highly humane and indisputably popular that the principle was put into a statute. The immediate result was more slovenly work and an increased quantity of "seconds." The statute was declared unconstitutional, and the adoption of a "new" and cruel system of pay is the return to the old method.

The interest of the employers is so greatly in favor of first quality production that they offered to distribute the differences in the two rates of payment to employes as an "extra" to deserving workers. Thus total payments would be at the full union rates, with no deductions, the employers benefiting merely by the betterment of the quality. This is the statement made by the employers over the signature of their representatives. If it is untrue, the strikers should lose no opportunity in correcting it. If it is true the sooner those willing to work under those conditions are put in condition to do with safety to life and limb the more credit to those charged with the enforcement of law and order.

PORTSMOUTH.

Waste Spots in Front of Town Hall to be Cleared of Bushes, by Order of the Council.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The town council has appointed Town Clerk George R. Hicks to have the waste spots in front of the town hall cleared of bushes. Many years ago, perhaps 20, when Portsmouth had a large and flourishing Chautauqua Society, the members interested themselves greatly in civic matters. At that time this rough spot was cleared and somewhat leveled and each member set out a small tree. Most of them grew and the prospect was good for a small but pretty park. It needed funds, which on application to the town council were refused, and in process of time it went back to its original state.

Miss Florence Lowe of New Bedford will spend the rest of the summer as guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Whitehead.

William B. Clarke, who was named as executor in the will of Mary E. Austin, declined to accept the trust and Hovey G. Dougan of Tiverton was appointed. He gave bond in the sum of $15,000, with John A. Wilcox and James H. Almy as sureties. Appraisers, William K. Boyd, Albert L. Chase and Chester H. Borden.

Miss Mary H. Smith and Miss Bertha Crocker are to spend today, Sunday and Monday at "Lemont Farm" with Mr. and Mrs. Augustus L. Wilbur.

A social was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Quirk. Mr. William Quirk was at the piano while Mr. and Mrs. James Quirk danced the Highland fling with much skill. The "hit" of the occasion was a song entitled "The Gaby Glide." During the afternoon, Miss May Quirk was presented with a five-pound box of candy. A collation was served.

Visitors who have just arrived at Island Park for a week include eight from New Jersey, four from Hyannis, Mass., and three from New York.

Blueberries and huckleberries are quite plentiful this year, the dry weather seeming to have affected them but little.

The B. G. Club of girls from New London, who are here for three weeks, are chaperoned by Mrs. Robert T. Roiston and Mrs. Carlton H. Ingram.

Misses Mollie, Louise and Bessie Gray and Rachel Peckham, and Masters Walter Gray, Charles Anthony, John Brown and Philip Peckham have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gray at Prudence, going over in Mr. Gray's boat.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Burns are entertaining for a month Mrs. George D. Warren and family of Washington.

Mrs. Charles Sumner Sisson is with her daughter, Mrs. Abner P. Anthony.

Mr. John Callery of Fall River is building a cottage for Mr. James Cummings at Island Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Clap and family, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Chase at Wappinang, have returned to their home in the West.

The Girls' Club of Taunton, six in number, are spending two weeks at a cottage here.

Mr. Michael K. Whittaker and family, who have been here for two weeks, have returned to their home in Brockton.

Portsmouth did not share in the rainfarr Thursday. The wells are low and in most of those which are not low the water seems poor. Many farmers are obliged to cart water for their stock and others for household purposes, as a large number of cisterns are dry.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCartney are entertaining guests from Newton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sumner and their son, Foster, of Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. James Burton and their daughter Dorothy, of Gloucester, and Mrs. J. L. Kingston and family of Danvers are at the Mowdan cottage for a week.

Miss Nora Dailey has returned to Providence after spending a month with her uncle, Mr. Cornelius Sheehan, and family.

Mr. Thomas Powers and family of Montreal are guests of Miss Margaret Powers.

Misses Elsie and Alice Brown, who have been visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin T. Brown, are now with their cousin, Miss Bernice Sherman, on Glen street.

Among the numerous lawn parties in town none excel St. Mary's Guild in the dainty furnishings of the table and the excellence and variety of the menu.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Myers and their son Irving, of Malden, Mass., are here for a few weeks and have as guests Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Cummings and Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Bowdin and their daughter Susie of Brockton.

Mr. Henry C. Ferguson and his grandson, Stuart L. Brown, of Ohio, have taken rooms here for a short time.

Among the names omitted from those taking part at the St. Paul's Church lawn party were Mrs. Benjamin C. Sherman, chairman of the apron committee; Misses Louise and Anna Chase, waitresses and Mr. J. M. Eldredge, whose task of carving was not a light one. Miss Harriet Frances Sanford made the coffee and Miss Sarah Mott cared for the fish pond. A new departure was made this year to prevent the usual crush at supper time. Colonel Arthur A. Sherman had the matter in charge, with satisfactory results.

Misses Florence and Bertha Watson of Fall River and Mrs. Robert Monarch of New Hampshire are guests of Mrs. B. Marnoch.

LOWER PRICES FOR FOODS.

[Minneapolis Journal.]

The high cost of living is the problem which concerns two candidates for the Presidency, Wilson and Roosevelt, and which engages the attention of nearly every economic writer just now. Various causes are suggested—too much gold, over-capitalization, extravagance and waste, too few agricultural producers, too great governmental expenditure. Each is a contributory cause, no doubt, but the overworked law of supply and demand comes in to account for a lot. Demand has exceeded supply in foods at least, and supply has not answered demand.

This is demonstrated by the drop in prices in view of the prospect of bumper crops this season. In Chicago a year ago potatoes sold at $5.25 a barrel, this year for the corresponding week at $2.75 a barrel. Cabbages sold last year at $2.50 a crate, this year at $1 to $1.15. In Minneapolis last week new potatoes sold around 65 cents a bushel and old at 18 cents and less.

These are indications. All crops are fairly certain to be large. Plenty of food for livestock will be produced, which should in time operate to reduce the price of meats. Rains this year have been seasonable, sunshine propitious, and rain and sun have more to do with a people's prosperity than even politicians have.

We prosper most when, as a whole people, each receives a good price for his product—not an extreme price.

PERSONALS.

....The retirement of Congressman Samuel W. McCall of Winchester, Mass., from further Congressional honors in the Eighth district is definitely announced. He is to be a candidate for governor.

....Milton G. Puffer, who is said to have invented the first practical machine for making envelopes, is dead at the home of his daughter in Williamantic, Conn. He was born at Brimfield, Mass., 93 years ago.

....Professor Jeremiah W. Jenks, formerly of Cornell University, who recently was offered the post of financial advisor to the Chinese government, has indicated his willingness to accept the position.

....Clifford Pinchot, formerly chief forester, cannot increase his taxes in the District of Columbia, though he desires to do so. Mr. Pinchot recently decided his home had been underassessed about $44,000 and proposed to pay more taxes. The assessors, however, think their figures are correct and decline to take Mr. Pinchot's money.

....As successor to Dr. James B. Angell, formerly president of Brown University and later of the University of Michigan, Charles W. Fairbanks, former Vice President of the United States, has been named a regent of the Smithsonian Institution. Dr. Angell, who was the oldest member of the board in point of service, was a regent from January 19, 1887, to January 15, 1912. Dr. Andrew D. White, diplomat and publicist, has been re-appointed regent by joint resolution of Congress. His term is for six years. Dr. White received his first appointment to this office in 1888, and upon the completion of the present term will have served the institution 30 years.

DREAMS.

[John Call Parish, in Joe Chapple's News Letter.]

I come each night to a quiet shore
My thoughts slip out to sea,
Without a goal these ships of my soul
Sail out of the reach of me.

They fade so quick to the skyline dim
And many are lost in the deep,
But some come back from their outward track
And into my visions creep.

My soul is tortured by the wrecks
Where gallant sailors die;
But I love the song of the happy throng
When the pleasure boats come by.

From yonder ship a brother speaks,
I see my father smile,
Across the sea they call to me
And the years turn back awhile.

With sudden ache of empty arms
I stand on the shore and pray
That the ship may last till the night is past
And at dawn ride into the bay.

But the ships of my soul are fated ships,
Whatever their freight may be.
There is never a dawn but finds them gone
For they all go down at sea.

Automobile Fires

Your automobile will carry you a long distance from a railroad or a trolley line.

AND, ISN'T IT GREAT TO FLY PAST TREES AND TELEGRAPH POLES!

But, if fire breaks out in your motor car, IT'S AN AWFULLY LONG WALK HOME.

So be prepared to fight fire—carry a PYRENE extinguisher on the dash board.

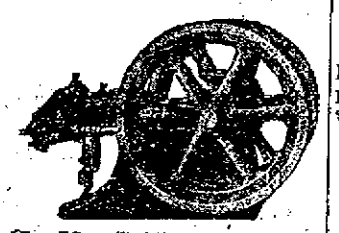

Special brackets can be provided and the highly polished brass extinguisher will not detract from the appearance of your car. In fact, it will be an added ornament.

An extinguisher weighs only five pounds. It is easily operated and will smother fires in a motor car, that are apparently inaccessible. Quart sizes only. Price $7, ready for use.

Included in the lists of approved Fire Appliances issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE.

The Daily News is on sale in Providence the evening of publication at Union Station.

A GOOD NEWPORT SEASON.

Newport is having one of its most active seasons for many years. Many of the summer residences which have not been opened for several summers are occupied by their owners, there are few absentees among the better known visitors, new-comers have filled many of the vacant places, there have been more rentals of cottages than usual and those who have applied late have found difficulty in securing accommodations. The season opened early, entertainments by the summer residents began in June and are following in rapid succession, with the promise of crowding and possible conflict of dates for August. Not only have there been more entertainments, but they have begun to take on the more elaborate character of former years.

In outdoor sports there is much activity. Lawn tennis is holding its own at the Casino, golf is a weekly feature, polo is taking on a new life, and now comes the report that Mr. August Belmont proposes to revive coaching. In former years the coaching parades were features of the social season, while coaching parties were frequent, and a revival of interest in this event would be pleasing not only to those who might participate but to many who would be glad of an opportunity to see the parade.

The season this year reminds one of earlier summers, when Newport was the centre of a healthy activity in social pleasures and outdoor sports, and not so much a place for freak entertainments and a seeking after undue notoriety. The change is welcomed by the permanent citizens of Newport and by the summer residents alike.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT FOR CITIES.

The commission form of municipal government seems to be gaining in favor and annually are added to the list of cities which have adopted this method of administration many new recruits. It is only five years since the movement in this direction assumed large proportions, and yet within that comparatively short time more than 200 cities have changed their charters to provide for some form of government by commission. In 1911 almost 100 placed themselves in the column of those whose business is conducted after this manner. Government by commission as applied to cities does not mean the same thing in all cases and there is quite a variety of forms of this general method of administration in force. These vary in details, but in their main features are much alike, and all involve the principle of fixing the responsibility upon a few officials and making these accountable to the people for the proper conduct of municipal affairs.

It is evident, with such a remarkable growth in the number of cities adopting a commission form of government, that there must be some desirable features involved, and the fact that those municipalities which adopt this method of administration retain it after experiment is a further indication which cannot be ignored that this manner of conducting the affairs of a city has much merit. Five years is perhaps not long enough thoroughly to try a plan of this kind, but it is sufficient to give some plain indications as to the value of the method and its success in operation. So general is the favor with which it is regarded by those cities which have tried it that it is evident that it has come to stay and that for the future, or until some much better plan is devised, a large number of the cities of this country will be governed by some form of commission. For the most part the indications are that they will be governed well in that manner.

It is to be noted in this connection, however, that thus far no very large city has adopted the commission method, but up to the present time only those of comparatively small size have put the plan on trial. There are evidences, however, that it will not be long before some of large population will adopt the scheme, and then it will be possible to judge whether the method is as well adapted to large as to small cities. The advocates of the plan feel sure that it will prove as successful in connection with larger municipalities as they claim it has been as applied to smaller ones and are confident that practically all the big cities before many years will be found in the column of those governed in this manner. There are some who doubt this, but these for the most part also doubted if the plan would prove feasible with respect to a city of any size.

So popular has this method of government for cities become that in some states movements are in progress to bring all the municipalities within their borders under the plan and the project is meeting considerable success in several cases. It seems better, however, to allow each city to take this step independently, for while the commission form of government has proved successful in most cases where it has been tried there is at least doubt if it will be so in all instances. Cities differ materially in their conditions and all are not planned after the same model, so that what will be good for one will not necessarily be good for others. Therefore it is hardly wise to try to fit the same garment on all, without regard to dimensions or conditions. Each should stand by itself in deciding the way it shall be governed, and not be influenced by others which may be quite different in their characteristics. It is too important a matter to change the form of administration of the affairs of a city to do it lightly or inadvisedly, but each should understand its own particular and peculiar conditions and act as seems best in view of them, without regard to the intentions of others.

PROGRESSIVES AND THE TARIFF.

Medill McCormick is quoted in an interview as making some specific accusations against the President, which is a rather notable departure from the usual attitude of the progressives, of loud but vague denunciation. He complains of the action of Taft in the Ballinger case, for which he is not without some reason, but Ballinger was forced to resign and the President appointed a man who is as good a conservationist as anybody. He also complains that the President let Dr. Wiley leave the service, and here again many persons agree with him and there is a small amount of fact underlying the complaint. Yet after the investigation last year vindicated the pure food expert the President wrote him a handsome letter, and it was the President who stopped the conspiracy to have Wiley removed. While Wilson and McCabe were left in the Department of Agriculture, the board of three was re-constituted to give Wiley a freer, though not an absolutely free, hand. Wiley himself said, about the time of leaving the service, that the President had always stood by him. Finally, the doctor resigned to accept private employment at a large increase of salary. Thus these accusations, while not baseless, have very slender foundation.

He also charges the President with urging upon Congress a railroad law which was too favorable to the roads, and with creating the Commerce Court, which thwarts the purposes of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This has a basis of fact, and whether ground for denunciation or not must depend upon the point of view.

The most extraordinary part of McCormick's indictment of the President is his complaint that the Payne-Aldrich tariff did not meet the promises of the Republican convention of four years ago. Many people who are not progressives admit this, but they say the President did all he could, all that any Republican President could without breaking with his party, to have the tariff reduced. Not securing much reduction from Congress, he supplemented the new tariff by negotiating the Canadian reciprocity agreement. This is enough to acquit the President of responsibility for the failure of Congress to reduce duties farther.

What shall we say of McCormick's denunciations of the President for not reducing the tariff, when the former is working like a beaver to secure the election of Theodore Roosevelt, who in seven and a half years of the Presidency made no effort to reduce the tariff, who in the campaign before the convention made the reciprocity agreement one of his grounds of attack upon the President, and who since the Democratic convention has declared Woodrow Wilson to be a free trader and said that a Democratic victory would destroy the prosperity of the country? Roosevelt gives all the indications of being a thick-and-thin protectionist, and McCormick is working for Roosevelt and against Taft because the latter has not done enough tariff reducing. What can Medill McCormick say in justification of this remarkable attitude?

The Senate committee has finally agreed to a compromise on the parcels post provision in the postoffice appropriation bill. The result is a modification of Senator Bourne's plan, retaining his scheme for a division of the country into zones within which rates for the transmission of parcels shall be the same, the maximum rate to remain at 12 cents, that of the Postal Union. The committee did not accept the provision placed in the bill by the House for a federal scheme of good roads to be built and maintained as post roads, but replaced it with a provision for the appointment of a commission of three Senators and three members of the House to consider the matter.

The first exhibition of the Art Association of Newport gives an opportunity for the people of the city to see the work of some of the best known American painters. The association is to be commended for its success in its first effort to bring before the public these excellent examples of the artists' work, and Newport should show its appreciation by attending the exhibition on the days when the doors are thrown open. Undoubtedly many will be surprised to learn that there are so many living in Newport who have become prominent in the art world and are adding to the fame of the city.

The House committee severely criticises the government method of erecting public buildings, finding that extravagance and waste are due to the present system, which opens the door to possibilities of fraud in public expenditures. It urges that members of Congress be less zealous in their efforts to secure public buildings for their districts, and recommends legislation making it illegal to erect such buildings in any city whose population is less than 15,000, or whose postoffice takes in less than $10,000 annually. This latter is going to the bottom of things.

Colonel Cecil A. Lyon of Texas, one of the supporters of Colonel Roosevelt in the Republican national convention, evidently thinks he is the Republican party of that state. He says he is at its head and intends to stay there. "Colonel Roosevelt" he declares, "is the Republican nominee for President, and our Texas electors are already named and instructed for him." Perhaps Lyon will find out before November that Roosevelt is not the Republican nominee for President.

The Massachusetts manufacturers do not place much confidence in the report from Chicago that prices of all grades of shoes are to be raised about 20 per cent. They say an advance has already taken place in the form of a poorer quality of goods for the same price and the public is being "bamboozled." It is admitted, however, that the increased cost of raw material is likely to force prices to a point higher than ever before.

The Wyoming meets the expectations of the Navy Department and the builders and is the fastest battleship afloat. The German battle cruisers are faster, but there are no such powerful fighting machines with high speed anywhere in the world. A speed of 22.045 knots an hour is "going some" for a 26,000-ton ship.

THE AUGUST MAGAZINES.

In addition to a full account of important current events in racing, the August Yachting contains several special articles of interest. "The Story of the Submarine," by G. S. Goldie, will serve to give an excellent understanding of the historical evolution and present perfection of these wonderful little sea fighters. "The Successful Auxiliary," by H. F. Johnson, is continued, with hints upon the installation of power under difficulties in small craft which were not designed to receive an engine.

J. T. Rowland's story of "Running the Nova Scotia and Cape Breton Island Coasts" in a small cruiser will show the stay-at-home sailor how much he is missing and tempt the offshore man to try the other side of Fundy." A specially interesting feature will be a re-print of portions of the official log of old Hendrik Hudson. There are also articles dealing with some of the technical points of boat handling—with sail and power.

The leading fiction offering of Woman's World for August is the first installment of a new serial of romantic adventure, "The Dare Devil," by Mrs. Baillie Reynolds. S. R. Crockett's "Sandy the Perfervid" is concluded in this issue. Arthur Henry contributes a short story, "Only Jenkins." Herbert Kaufman writes an editorial of sympathetic encouragement to the poor boy, and other articles of interest. "Life's Healings," by Dr. Frank Crane; "The Girl that Cheapens Herself," by Maude Radford Warren; "The Woman That is Disliked," by Dr. Edith B. Lowry; "Tips," by Barton Braley, are other attractions of this number.

IMPORTATION OF ABSINTHE BARRED.

The importation of absinthe into the United States and its sale in interstate commerce will be prohibited after October 1 next by a pure food decision signed by Secretary Wilson. "It is generally recognized," says the decision "that this beverage is dangerous to health." Members of the pure food Board express their opinion that the decision will virtually abolish the use of absinthe in the United States.

Belgium, Switzerland and Holland have passed laws forbidding its manufacture, sale and importation, and the French Senate two weeks ago took similar action. Absinthe also is condemned by the laws of Brazil.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Progressive Party of the State Formed and Delegates Chosen.

Connecticut Dealers Fined for Sending Filthy Milk to Providence.

The Progressive party of Rhode Island, pledged to support Theodore Roosevelt first, last and all the time for the Presidency of the United States was formed in Providence Friday evening and five delegates elected to attend the convention to be held at Chicago. The delegates chosen are Dr. Charles O'Leary of Providence, Edwin F. Tuttle of Woonsocket, J. W. Walton of Providence, Eliot Lebel of Providence and Julius L. Mitchell of Providence. Representatives were present from Providence, Newport, Woonsocket, East Providence, Cumberland and North Smithfield, and announcements were made from representatives of other sections of the state that they favored the movement and would assist in fathering it in every way possible. A state committee of not exceeding 15 members will be appointed, with authority to perform the functions both of a state convention and of a state central committee. This committee is to be chosen by popular vote.

As a result of a raid made last September by federal officers under the direction of Walter O. Scott, milk inspector of Providence, 28 Connecticut milk dealers were fined $40 each in the United States court at Hartford Friday, on a charge of having sent filthy milk to Providence. The raid was a direct result of the publication of a part of Mr. Scott's report, in which he said the filthy milk sent into Providence by Connecticut dealers was one of the causes of the high rate of infant mortality and was in violation of the national pure food law. As a result of the investigations of Mr. Scott and the federal officers, 78 Connecticut milk dealers are in the toils of the government for violation of the federal law. Judge James Platt, before whom the cases were tried, issued 31 bench warrants for alleged violators who have been sending milk in rusty cans.

Forty-one young quail and a dozen young pheasants, all born and bred this year under the auspices of the Rhode Island Bird Commission, were liberated Friday in North Smithfield. With them were freed 10 quail and three pheasants of an older growth. The young birds immediately flew away and showed themselves sufficiently able to go alone, although they are only about three months old. While the other towns of the state are fairly well supplied with game birds, North Smithfield has been lacking in this respect for some time past. It is for this reason that this town was selected for the initial effort on the part of the bird commissioners to restock the state, as well as for the added reason that requests had been received from citizens in that part of Providence county that an effort be made to supply the deficiency in this direction. It is anticipated that the quail will be fully grown by October 15, when the law goes off, or, if they escape the hunters' guns, will have mated and be ready to propagate by another season. The law is always on the pheasants, under the present bird laws, and the commissioners believe they will multiply rapidly during the next few years.

Albert Larson, 17 years old, was killed, and Charles H. Simmons, 19 years old, both of East Providence, painfully cut and bruised Friday, when one of the two large brick chimneys, left standing after the Boyden Heights fire, fell upon them as they were exploring the ruins. A stiff breeze was blowing at the time and since the grounds are on a high elevation on the water-front the chimneys were receiving the full force of the wind. All that was left standing of the building on the main grounds were the two chimneys connected with the cook house, and these were badly warped by the excessive heat. As the two young men were searching in the ashes about them, one chimney, without the least warning, fell before an unusually strong blast of wind. Young Larson was directly in the path of the mass of bricks and mortar, 30 feet high, and was buried beneath the great weight and terribly crushed, dying within a short time. Simmons was standing in such a position that he received only minor injuries from flying bricks. He was cut about the head, face and hands, besides receiving numerous bruises.

The annual outing of the Rhode Island Dental Society was held Friday afternoon at the Pomham Club, and about 100 members of the society enjoyed the lunch and program of sports which had been prepared by the committee of arrangements. The dentists were out for a day's sport, and had it. There wasn't a dull moment from the time they arrived at the Pomham Club, shortly after noon, until they started for home, late in the evening. Upon arrival at the club a buffet lunch was served, after which the real fun of the day began. There were various kinds of races and other events intended to give every member an opportunity to display his athletic abilities. The great event was the ball game between the married and single men. The former proved conclusively that, though married, they were still able to wield the willow, pulling down the game by a score of 10 to 7.

Alderman John H. Higgins of the Sixth ward has announced his candidacy for mayor of Providence in the coming municipal campaign. He has been mentioned as a possible candidate for several years, but always declined to allow the use of his name. This was particularly the case a year ago, when there was a marked movement in his favor. Owing to the fact that Mayor Fletcher was an avowed candidate at that time for re-election, Mr. Higgins asked his friends not to present his name, so that Mr. Fletcher went before the city electorate with a clear field in his own party. Mr. Higgins has represented the Sixth ward in the city council for 12 years, for six years as a member of the common council delegation from Elmwood and for the past six years in the board of aldermen. He was president of the board in 1909 and 1910, but withdrew in 1911 in favor of Alderman Gilbert R. Parker, the present president.

Two Providence firemen, Edward J. Hogan and Fred E. McCaffrey, members of Hose 1, are dead and several others are seriously ill as the result of inhaling the poisonous fumes of burning celluloid and lacquer at a fire in the Majestic Manufacturing Company's plant in that city Thursday evening. Hoseman Hogan, who was taken ill while on duty late Thursday night, several hours after the fire, died Friday afternoon at the Rhode Island Hospital, where he was taken from his home earlier in the day. Hoseman McCaffrey succumbed Friday night at his home.

Congressman Utter has introduced a bill granting an extension of letters patent to Charles H. Matteson of Coventry on his invention of a weft-fork. The letter patent will expire next October and Mr. Matteson desires an extension of 10 years. Mr. Utter's bill is an unusual one, as such a measure has not been before Congress for many years.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, July 20.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Fair tonight and Sunday; light, variable winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The area of high barometeric pressure that was central over Lake Michigan Friday morning has moved southeastward and now extends along the Middle Atlantic coast. The temperature is a little higher this morning in the Ohio and lower Missouri valleys, but is near the seasonal average in nearly all portions of the country, except for rather cool weather in the lower St. Lawrence valley and the British Northwest. No change in the present conditions is expected in this vicinity during the next 36 hours. The temperature in Boston at 8 a. m. was 66, New York 62, Washington 71, Jacksonville 72, New Orleans 80, Chicago 60, St. Louis 70, St. Paul 58, Des Moines 72, Kansas City 72, Bismarck 60, Denver 60, San Francisco 54 and Portland, Oregon, 60.

TWO DRIVERS QUIT.

Demand of Adams Express Men for More Pay and Shorter Hours Refused.

There was what might have been called a strike at the Adams Express office recently when the men asked for $2.50 a day, a ten-hour day and over-time for extra work. This of course no express company could afford to pay, and make the profits which the companies have been making. There was only one answer to be made to the demand, and that was if any drivers were dissatisfied they could quit. Two did quit, but business is going along every day. If anything, things have been busier than usual. Perhaps that is why the drivers struck.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. Frank E. Moriarty is a candidate for city sergeant.

—Mr. H. Carey Morgan of New York is guest of Milton S. Barger at "Edna Villa."

—Mr. R. deB. Boardman of Boston is guest of Mr. F. Lothrop Ames at "The Ledges."

—Mr. Whitney Wright of Philadelphia is guest of Mr. Paul A. Andrews at "Rocky Hall."

—Lighter Archer was in Friday and the day before, with cargoes of lumber for use at the beach.

—Mrs. Stanton Palmer and her children are visiting Mr. Palmer's relatives for the summer.

—A big automobile arrived this morning for Huntington Wilson, assistant Secretary of State.

—Mr. Edgar S. Marsh, formerly of this city, is here from Providence on a short visit to his mother.

—Mr. Arthur W. Butler of New York is guest of Mr. E. Hicks Herrick at the Herrick cottage, Clay street.

—Mr. Bertram deL. Cruger of New York is guest of Mr. J. Norman deR. Whitehouse at the DeRham cottage.

—Mr. Frank P. Wheeler, driver of the police patrol, has been called to Philadelphia by the death of his father.

—Messrs. Randolph C. Grew and Benjamin W. Croningshield are guests of Mrs. French Vanderbilt at "Harbourview."

—Lieutenant Commander Walter R. Gherardi, U. S. N., and Mrs. Gherardi have taken quarters at the Tayer cottage, Bull street.

—Rev. T. J. Shanahan, D. D., president of the Catholic University at Washington, is guest of Rev. E. A. Higgins at St. Joseph's rectory.

—DeBois & Eldridge have rented, through F. H. Paine, cottage No. 4 on First and Second Beach avenue to Mrs. Adolph Ladenburg for the season.

—Colonel C. L. F. Robinson left Friday night for Idaho, where he will take the water at some springs for his health. He was accompanied by Dr. DeBois.

—Dr. William H. Matthews of this city attended the meeting in Providence Friday, preparatory to the organization of the Progressive party of Rhode Island.

—A still alarm at 2:03 this morning called Chemical 2 to the corner of Thames and Fair streets, where J. A. Barker's awning was on fire, probably from a cigarette.

—Miss Katherine H. Allan, Miss Jeannette H. Swasey and Miss Amelia M. Greene sailed today from New York on steamer Kroonland and will spend two months in Switzerland, Germany and France.

—The sleeping facilities at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association have been used to their limit during the past week, all the permanent beds being taken every night and an average of 60 extra cots.

—John L. Cummings has leased to Dr. Marshall G. Whitehouse of Providence the front room of his building over 130 Thames street, and has let for Annie R. Cummings the westerly half of her house on Earle avenue, to John Young.

—Steam yacht Aloha has arrived from New York, and steam yacht O No Ra from up the bay. The Adroit came back from New York, where it took Mr. Beekman. The Scout took Mr. August Belmont and a party to the Pier this afternoon, for the polo play.

—The old State House is visited daily by people who have an inclination for seeing historic sites. From the roof they obtain a magnificent view of the harbor and a good part of the island. Sheriff Anthony is always pleased to give visitors the privilege of going up on the roof.

—The weekly receipts from the automobile registration in this city have been amounting to about $1,000, during the month, and it is estimated that there is an increase of 40 per cent over last year. Hardly an hour of the day passes when there are not people at the court house, filling out application blanks.

—The potato growers have begun to dig for foreign trade and Friday night Henry C. Anthony shipped the first car of Island potatoes to Boston. The price is $2.10. He had two cars, but saved one for today. The shipment will now begin to grow, though probably few will be sent from the Newport depot.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stiness and George J. Matthews of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Treacy, H. W. Dawson and H. D. DuBois of New York; J. H. Haines of Swift Current, Saskatchewan; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chester of Oneonta, N. Y., F. E. Fallon of Elko, Nev., and J. E. Hannon of Troy, N. Y., are registered at the Perry House.

—Captain Snow of steam yacht Eleanor arrived Friday to look over Mr. Widener's 30-footer Eleanor with an idea of putting her in commission for a season. The inspection seems to have been satisfactory, for today they are making the Eleanor ready to leave the shipyard. Captain Snow was on the boat when she was in commission before.

—Providence reports a large influx of the gambling fraternity from New York during the last few days. It is not intimated that they are there for business, but it is frankly stated that they are taking a little vacation, as New York is just now not a desirable place for them. Newport would appear to be receiving some of the vacationists also, judging from some faces seen on the streets.

—This morning a city gang started to make repairs in the Thames street pavement in front of the People's Library building, where there appeared to be a settlement. Two hours later the Water Works gang came along and began to make a big hole in the pavement at the very spot which had been repaired. It had been discovered that there was a leak in the service beneath this point, which was responsible for the settlement.

—Today's registers at the Casino include H. J. Wigham, F. A. Fletchner, Mrs. Mulhern, Frances A. Shea, Miss Shea, Miss H. E. Shea, Mrs. J. T. Shea, Whitney Wright, Lieutenant Commander W. Gullcalth, Lieutenant Commander F. N. Freeman, William Jay, A. B. Boardman, I. Goodwin Hobbs, H. Carey Morgan, R. de L. Cruger, Edwin M. Hudgins, Mrs. F. B. Morgan, Arthur W. Butler, Charles Hayward, Randolph C. Grew, Benjamin W. Croningshield, W. DeForest Manice and Mr. and Mrs. Barbarelli.

QUIET PREVAILS IN NEW BEDFORD.

ascertained that it would not be possible, on the part of the weavers, to hold another meeting with the committee from the ministers today. A conference will probably be arranged for early next week.

The local secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World, Richard Parkingson, and members of that organization, are indignant that they should not have been called into the conference with the ministers.

In reply Rev. Mr. Bartholmew said the Ministers' Union had not the slightest idea of ignoring the Industrial Workers of the World, but sought to bring about a hearing between the parties most interested, whom he considered the manufacturers and the weavers' union officials.

HUNDREDS OF SAILORS ASHORE.

Less Money and Shorter Leave Leads Most of Them to Remain in the City.

The weekly liberty of the men from the Atlantic fleet was given immediately after dinner today and the men came ashore again by hundreds. Admiral Osterhaus, having had his attention called to the fact that the beach is the local point of attraction, has notified the management that he proposes to establish a shore patrol there and the beach people this morning made arrangements for its accommodation. The patrol is to number 20 men, and since they are to remain at the beach during their duty ashore cots have been procured and bunking quarters provided in rooms in the upper part of the east pavilion.

There were less dress suit cases to be seen today among the men coming ashore, and this suggests that fewer men are to leave the city. It is well along in the month and ready money is not so plentiful. Another reason is that, since the ships will all go out for drill at sea next week, the liberty is restricted to 36 hours and except for near-by points there is not much use of leaving the city.

The same large number of war vessels are in port as last week and it is expected, if the day proves fair, that there will be a large influx of people Sunday from southern Massachusetts and the upper part of this state, to see the sight.

Collier Caesar has arrived here from New London, with coal for the battleships. The Hector will leave Sewall's Point, Va., next week for Newport. The orders to the Ajax to proceed from the vicinity of Hampton Roads to Newport have been cancelled and the collier will leave the Norfolk navy yard about July 25 for Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

PROGRESS AT THE BEACH.

Railing on Board Walk May be Completed For the Illumination Monday Night.

The railing on the board walk at the beach is going up, and while there is a long section yet to be erected there will be an endeavor, by putting on an extra force of men, to have the contractors nearly if not wholly complete it for Monday night, when a large crowd is expected to witness the fireworks. The section of plank walk between the west bathing section and the merry-go-round leading to the roadway is being constructed and about a third of it will be available for use Sunday.

Work has also been started on a photograph gallery in the space between the shooting gallery and the dance hall. It was thought to be impossible to have this just now, but the demand for a place to have one's picture taken has been so great that it has been decided to go ahead. Manager McGowan is now pondering over the placing of a band stand between the water and the board walk and having band concerts. There is of course the question of cost as well as that of feasibility to be considered.

Among the various supplies which are consumed in quantities at the beach is milk, and it is now proving a serious problem to secure the amount required, because of the general shortage of the supply. A producer who is selling all his milk at 10 cents a quart states that he is unable to secure enough to meet the demand.

KANSAS WINS ATHLETIC MEET FROM LOUISIANA.

A large party from the Louisiana and the Kansas were at the Training Station Friday afternoon to witness the athletic meet between teams from the two ships. The Kansas was the winner, having 65 points to her competitor's 63. If it had not been necessary to cut the program of events short, because of the lateness of the hour, the Louisiana might have won. Two teams from the Constellation's guard at the Training Station will take part in a duel meet this afternoon.

FUNERAL OF MRS. D. J. HARRINGTON.

The funeral of Mrs. Daniel J. Harrington took place this morning from her residence on Newton court, and later to St Mary's Church, where Rev. William B. Meenan, in the presence of a large congregation, celebrated a mass of requiem for the repose of her soul. The interment was at St. Columba's cemetery, the bearers being Walter Lawrence, Patrick Sullivan, Frank Sullivan, David Fitzpatrick, Daniel Murphy and John Mahoney.

Among the many floral offerings was a wreath of flowers from the clerks of the Hall & Lyon store, where Mr. Harrington is employed.

NOT A SEPARATE OFFICER.

Duties of City Messenger Performed by City Sergeant, Under the Existing Ordinance.

In response to inquiries from candidates for the position of city messenger, City Clerk Fullerton has been looking up the legal status of that office and finds that in the ordinances of 1879 the city messenger was appointed by the mayor and received a salary of $40 a month. When the ordinances of 1892 were consulted it was found that this section had disappeared. No provision was found for the appointing of the city messenger, but there is a section which provides a salary of not exceeding $600 a year, to be paid to the city sergeant for services to be performed by him as city messenger. This ordinance is still in effect. The fact seems to be that the city sergeant is ex-officio the city messenger and receives an addition of $500 a year to his salary for filling the duties of that position. The city sergeant is elected by the Council, and not appointed.

Of course the Council can change this ordinance at the meeting Monday evening if it so votes. It can make a new arrangement of duties and provide therefor, the office being vacant. What it will do remains to be seen.

SENTENCED ON AN OLD CASE.

The police report this morning was meagre. One old case came up. A driver who was delivering Rhode Island coal, some time last April, when coal was needed, failed to turn in all his receipts to his employer and $6 was reported as missing. The man was finally found in town, arrested, charged with larceny, pleaded guilty and was sent to the workhouse for 30 days. All this at a time when he is needed on the farm where he has been working.

A sailor who broke a glass, worth it is said $4, in a Chinese restaurant made good financially and was not prosecuted.

AN ORNITHOLOGICAL EXHIBIT

There was an ornithological exhibit in front of the Woman's Exchange late Friday afternoon. The large wooden sign over the store was taken down and the exhibit was there. Attached to the sign was a great collection of old hay and straw, forming nests which sparrows had been building for years. Apparently the space between the sign and the house was almost completely filled with the material. There were a large number of "live" nests and young sparrows in all ages of development were exposed to view. Some were nearly ready to leave, and others but just hatched out.

LENTHAL BEATS THE BASIN TEAM.

By a score of 8 to 6 Lenthal pulled out a victory over the Basin boys Friday afternoon, in the Playground League. Lenthal, too, was handicapped in having only five men. Owens and Benelvenga featured. The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Lenthal	1	1	0	0	0	2	0	4	X—8
Basin	1	0	1	3	0	0	1	0	0—6

THE HIGH FIVE COMING.

One of the strongest teams booked for this season is scheduled to cross bats with the Trojans, the fast High Five of Providence. They will be remembered for their exhibition on a former appearance here, under the name of the Earlys, when they proved too much for the locals. The Trojans have been trying to arrange a game with this team since the start of the season, but it has been playing Sunday games either at Rocky Point or Palace Gardens.

All the Trojans are in form and expect to put up the best game of the year. "Jakey" Sheehan's arm is again in fine condition and with Carr for his battery mate he expects to give a good exhibition.

The Cheapest Dinner for Sunday will be

GRAND ILLUMINATION.
NIAGARA FALLS IN FIRE.
MONDAY EVENING, JULY 22,
At the Newport Beach.

The Newport Beach Association has equipped the restaurant at the Newport Beach without regard to expense or trouble. They have set a standard for quality in the food served that is making the Newport Beach favorably commented upon by those who have tested the service throughout the East.

We want the residents of Newport to know that our claim is true, namely, that the NEWPORT BEACH RESTAURANT is unexcelled for service, equipment and the quality of food served by any cafe in city or resort.

Try one of our Shore Dinners. Bake opens at 12 noon. The restaurant is open daily from 12 o'clock noon until 10 o'clock night. A La Carte service prevails during the day and evening. Sundays D'Avino's Famous Orchestra renders a program of concert music that adds on this day much to the pleasure of the patrons Sunday afternoon from 2 5. Evening from 7-10.

Ice Cream absolutely pure, of our own make, made from Island Cream is served afternoon and evening in the restaurant. It isn't necessary to purchase a lunch or dinner to secure the privilege of listening to the music of the orchestra on Sunday. You may order but ice cream and the opportunity is yours.

Broiled Live Lobsters, Steaks and Island Chickens are served at the Newport Beach Restaurant just a trifle better than the same food can be found anywhere else.

Get the habit of eating frequently at the beach.

Special attention is paid to private parties. Tables can be reserved by telephoning 967.

SETS NEW SPEED RECORD.

Battleship Wyoming Makes 22.046 Knots in Standardization Runs Over Mile Course.

Battleship Wyoming, sister ship of the super-dreadnought Arkansas, Friday set a new speed record for big-gun battleships of the world in her standardization trials. She made 22.045 knots, and it was declared by the naval experts on board that this was the fastest speed ever made by any battleship carrying 12-inch guns. The results of the trials was highly satisfactory to all on board the new vessel. During the trials of the Arkansas, a month ago, she made 21,493 knots, a record performance at that time.

A strike in the firerom during the full-speed runs interfered somewhat with the operation of the Wyoming. Even better speed might have been made, according to the officials, but for this trouble. The firemen struck for more pay. Before the difficulty was adjusted the steam fell off considerably and the speed likewise, but in spite of the trouble the Wyoming not only made a new full-speed record but also bettered the Arkansas's average for the five top-speed runs. The Wyoming's average was 21.323 knots and that of the Arkansas 21.153.

The Wyoming made the customary 23 standardization runs over the measured mile course, making three runs each at 10, 12, 15, 17.5 19 and 20.5 knots and five at top speed. Her best time was made on the twenty-first run. The maximum propeller revolutions were 333.61 per minute. The tests showed that to maintain the required speed of 20.5 knots but 280.2 revolutions would be required. The Wyoming is 26,000 tons displacement.

During the trials the builders, William Cramp & Sons of Philadelphia, were represented by Henry S. Grove, president, and H. W. Hand, vice president of the company. The naval board was headed by Captain A. F. Fechteler, with Commander Thomas J. Senn as recorder, Commander Carl T. Vogelgesang, who is to be executive officer on the Wyoming when she is turned over to the government, was also on board.

The vessel is 99 per cent completed, and it is expected will be put in commission about the middle of August.

Mr. Grove said the result of the trouble with the firemen probably would be the placing of naval firemen and engineers in charge of engines in future trials.

When the Wyoming started down the coast today for the remainder of her official trials the builders were fully confident that the results would confirm yesterday's standardization test, having exceeded her contract speed by more than 1½ knots, the ship was in fit condition to continue her record-breaking career on the four-hour endurance test, during which she was required to average 20½ knots per hour. To perform that feat the big propellers were obliged to make 280.2 turns each minute. This seemingly was not difficult, in view of the fact that they spun around 333.61 times per minute during one period of the standardization trial. On the four-hour run today Pocahontas coal, run of the mine, was the only fuel used. The Arkansas on a similar trial averaged 21.051 knots an hour.

When the endurance test has been completed the Wyoming is due to run 24 hours at 12 knots and 24 hours at 19 knots, the purpose being to obtain data relative to water consumption. The builders' acceptance trials will conclude with a two-hour run, on which oil as well as coal will be used as fuel. On this test the Arkansas averaged 29,989 knots per hour.

The builders expect to reach the shipyard at Philadelphia next Tuesday. There will be no stops, with the possible exception of a brief tarry at Lewes, Del.

The poetry thus acquired will be used to meet the advertising needs of the company. Miss Prichard is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Harold A. Prichard and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hatton.

PENSION VOTE DEFEATED CLARK.

Congressman Langley Says Record Prevented His Nomination.

The Personal Equation in Legislation—Lorimer's Name Quickly Eliminated From Roll.

(Washington correspondence of The News.)

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Almost no attention is paid to pension and private claims days in the House of Representatives, yet there is a lot of human nature in such days. Oftentimes some rather interesting statements are made. For instance Congressman Langley of Kentucky asserted that the South had been deprived of the opportunity to have a Southern man, Champ Clark, for President because the Speaker had voted for pension legislation in the House.

"But for the fact that Champ Clark has dared to champion liberal pension legislation," said Langley, "he would be the Democratic nominee today. No man could have sat in the Baltimore convention and note the way the states like Texas, Georgia, Alabama and the Carolinas voted and not believe as I do. Of course Bryan had something to do with it, but the main reason was on account of the Speaker's record on pensions."

Then came up the question of giving the widow of General Edward S. Bragg $100 per month (which was by a yea and nay vote cut to $50), and we heard all about the "Iron brigade" which Bragg commanded. Congressman Cooper of Wisconsin made a strong plea for the larger amount, but he could not get it, although the widow is now 82 years old. General Bragg is the man who made such a hit in 1884 when supporting Grover Cleveland by saying "We love him for the enemies he has made."

Then there is the personal equation in the matter of pension bills. One of the measures under consideration aroused considerable hostility until Congressman Sims of Tennessee explained that the beneficiary was the father-in-law of Mr. Courts, the very popular clerk of the committee on appropriations. Sims also said that the family was Republican, but highly respected. This colloquy ocurred:

"Oh," said Jim Mann, "this bill passes because of the statement that it has no relation to politics."

"And because the gentleman from Tennessee (Sims) is a Democrat," remarked Butler of Pennsylvania.

"And that the beneficiary is the father-in-law of the clerk of the committee on appropriations, who is very nearly the whole House of Representatives," added Sims.

"And you might add that the clerk comes from Tennessee," chimed in Madden of Illinois.

"He always takes care of Tennessee," was Langley's contribution.

"That is a matter of general assumption and presumption," declared Sims.

During the discussion of one bill some one remarked that "those of us who live in pension districts know how difficult it is to take care of all the pension bills." This was made the text of a few remarks by Slayden of Texas who asserted that his observation was that the men who lived in pension districts seemed to be very successful. Then Langley had to have an inning to defend the pension district statesmen, and he acknowledged that he was one of them.

Senator Burnham of New Hampshire can talk of the aspirations of the men who desire to succeed him without any personal feeling or rancor. Whenever a Senator refers to one who would like to succeed him it is generally accompanied by some tone of feeling. But as Senator Burnham retires voluntarily he can say "my successor" without the least personal feeling.

One day recently I found the delegations, or most of them, from the new states of New Mexico and Arizona out on the front steps of the Capitol, broiling in the hot sun, some of them with their hats off. By closer investigation I found that they were posing in front of a moving picture machine which a man was vigorously winding while he showed Mark Smith, Ashurst, Fall and Catron and several others—yes, including Sol Luna, the Republican national committeeman from New Mexico, talking to each other and attempting to show certain signs of life and activity on a hot day.

A few minutes after the Senate adjourned on the day that Lorimer was voted out of the Senate it was found that his name plate had been removed from the desk he has been occupying. Those alert employes of the Senate did not let any time elapse in eliminating the name of the Illinois man from the records of the Senate as a Senator. Not only was his name taken off the roll, but it was soon removed from the little locker in the cloak-room.

CRAFT BREAKS FROM MOORINGS.

Manhattan Hospital Attaches Save Family from Drowning.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Captain Frederick Hines of the coasting ship Kaaterskill, his wife and his daughter Agnes were saved from death by drowning, early today, by attaches of the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane, which is located on Ward Island, in the East river. The three were sleeping on board the Kaaterskill when the boat broke away from its moorings on the Long Island shore and drifted on rocks 200 feet north of the hospital pier. When his boat struck Captain Hines seized a megaphone and called for help. His cries were heard by a guard on the island who notified the hospital authorities. Two doctors and five nurses set out in rowboats and after some trouble succeeded in bringing the family ashore from the sinking ship.

Your Opportunity
To enter the world of business ideal to take hold of even a subordinate position demands special training. This we give and more. Situated at Providence, with its Grand Trunk Railroad Terminal, numerous factories, mills and offices, its steamships plying between this port and Europe, this school supplies these industries with stenographers, bookkeepers, accountants, secretaries and other competent workers. We assist our graduates to good positions.
Success
Our graduates are making splendid records in business everywhere. Write today for booklet, "Words From Those Who Know." If it paid them to acquire our training—if they have made a success in the business world as a result of this training—it is reasonable to assume that what we have done for them we can do for you. Will you write for this book? Today?
Reasons
It differs from most other business schools. Its courses prepare young people to become not simply bookkeepers and stenographers, but gives them the general education that will enable them to advance to more important positions and eventually become its business leaders of the future. Careful attention paid to the selection of boarding accommodations for out-of-town residents.

HEALS OLD SORES.
New Remedy for Eczema That Cures Most Stubborn Cases in Short Time.
Even if you have tried all other remedies for eczema, from the old fashioned salves to the new drugs, without benefit, do not lose hope. Try the latest discovery, the antiseptic Renovo, on the offer from the laboratory that if it does not cure your money will be refunded.
Eczema, pimples, salt rheum and other skin diseases readily yield to the healing antiseptic qualities of Renovo, while even old sores soon begin to heal when Renovo is applied.
A three-inch tube of Renovo costs only 50c, and if it does not do your skin trouble more good than any other remedy you have used, the local agent, Hall & Lyon Co., will refund your money. Use it for any skin trouble, and see how soon the itching and soreness disappear, and the skin becomes clear, soft, and free from blemish.

COMPLETE TREATMENT FOR ECZEMA
Of infants, children and adults is found in hot baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment. Sold everywhere. For sample of each, free, address "Cuticura," Dept. RN, Boston.

ITALIAN VESSELS UNDAMAGED.

Torpedo Flotilla Withdraws from Attacks from Turkish Forts.

ROME, July 20.—The Italian government admitted in a note issued today that a flotilla of Italian torpedo boat destroyers succeeded in advancing to Chanak-Kniesi, on the Asiatic side of the strait, when it was decided to withdraw on account of the severe bombardment directed at them from the Turkish forts and ships. The Italian vessels, the note adds, were not damaged.

Postmaster Caswell Successfully Operated On for Rupture—Rifle Club's Weekly Shoot.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Postmaster W. F. Caswell was operated on at the Newport Hospital Friday evening for a rupture. He was at work during the morning, but was forced to go home, where he became so much worse during the evening that a hurry call was made for the Conanicut, which was in Newport. The boat made a special trip to convey him to the hospital for the operation, which was successful. This morning he is reported as resting as comfortably as could be expected.

The weekly shoot of the Diamond Spring Rifle Club Friday evening was won by Arnold, Harris shooting the high string and Hern taking the bronze bar for handicap score by a slight margin. Only five men faced the targets and their scores were low, Harris shooting the only good string, his last. The scores:

Arnold	207	218	413
Harris	181	231	412
Hern	197	209	406
Richardson	202	192	394
A. Clarke	179	185	364

The local ball team will play the team from battleship Kansas Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Harrison Littlefield of Washington is guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Littlefield, on Greene lane.

A. O'D. Taylor has rented the Thornton cottage to Mr. Charles M. Newton of Brookline, Mass., for the season.

DISTRICT COURT CASES.

Justice Tempered by Mercy—The Judge Himself a Witness in a Civil Action.

In the district court Friday afternoon Isaac Ellis, an old man brought in from Little Compton about two weeks ago, on the charge of sturdy begging, was tried and found guilty. The court looked upon him with pity, for it was easy to see that the prisoner's days on earth were nearly spent. His bent figure, clad in blue overalls and homespun shirt, suggested that the ends of justice in this case would be served as well by exercising mercy. He was therefore allowed to go on probation, after promising to leave the state. The costs in the case amount to more than $50, but it is doubtful if they will ever be paid.

Another case before the court was that of Louis Baker vs. William Calett, an action for money due on a promissory note. It was somewhat out of the ordinary, in that Judge Franklin himself was a witness, Clerk George H. Kelley occupying the bench while the judge testified. Mr. MacLeod appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. J. A. Sullivan for defendant.

SOME FISH, AFTER ALL.

Some from Block Island and Some from the Mackerelmen Made a Good Shipment.

There was some fish for shipment Friday night, though it did look slim in the afternoon. When the New York boat pulled out there were 127 barrels on board. Some came from Block Island and the mackerel catchers added some. Things were looking slack when the Wood and Mack, Captain John Kent arrived with nine barrels of mackerel and three swordfish. Then came the Priscilla, Captain Jim Kelley, with 14 barrels of mackerel and 3 swordfish, and the Thomas B. Congdon with 16 barrels of mackerel. The markets were almost completely stripped of mackerel and the dealers were glad to see the boats come in, for they at once replenished. All the swordfish were taken here.

C. A. Easterbrooks had four and John Suza three barrels of mackerel. There were also some weaks, which generally went to local dealers. Today Suza is in with some weaks, Thomas had weaks, butters and scup, and some large bonito; M. Ramos had some weaks and scup, F. W. Lawton had two and George Lawton one barrel of mixed fish, J. E. Clarke was over from Narragansett Pier with 10 barrels of flounders.

PURITAN ARRIVES AND PROVIDENCE LEAVES.

Steamer Puritan arrived from Providence this morning about 10:35 and tied up at the south dock. The Providence pulled out at 12:45, just as the General was approaching the dock, a destroyer was docking at the Torpedo Station, the ferryboat was passing and more small boats were using the channel than for a long time. She swung around at the north dock and then tried to break the cluster at the south dock, and later to run down a small power boat. Finally she headed for Providence where she will resume her place on the line tonight.

AN ATTEMPT TO AFFECT STOCKS.

Stanley Denies Report of Recommendation of Steel Trust Dissolution.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Chairman Stanley of the House Steel Trust investigation committee today authorized a denial of reports that the committee would recommend the dissolving of the Steel Corporation. Mr. Stanley today declared he believed that reports given out to that effect had been calculated to affect the New York stock market.

GUN MEN PROBABLY HIRED BY ROSE.

men shot Rosenthal they put their guns in their pockets. After a while, Shapiro says, they walked leisurely over to the car and got on board. The chauffeur said that he stalled with the motor, hoping that the police would come; that one of the murderers pointed a gun at him and said "quit monkeying and roll along." Shapiro said the car made only 15 miles an hour and he did not see any chase being made to capture them. Going up Fifth avenue Shapiro said one of the passengers said to him that the job had been fixed and the police weren't doing anything.

"Jack" Rose told Deputy Commissioner Dougherty that he was afraid of Lieutenant Becker and had gone to the house of Dora Gilbert, Rosenthal's divorced wife, Monday night, because he knew she was going to make an affidavit that Becker wanted against Rosenthal. Rose told the commissioner that he was not surprised when he was told that Rosenthal had been killed, as he thought he would "get it" because he talked too much.

That some, if not all, of the men in the gray automobile when Rosenthal was lured to his death have fled to other cities was reported about police headquarters today, and it was said that detectives have been dispatched to many places on clues. District Attorney Whitman, who went out of town last night on an important mission, did not return to this office today and it was said there he would not be back until Monday. Reports that he had gone to have a secret conference with the head of the private detective agency which he had employed in the case could not be confirmed.

WELL KNOWN IN NEWPORT.

Mrs. Adele Livingstone Sampson, Former Wife of Frederick W. Stevens, Dies in Paris.

Mrs. Adele Livingstone Sampson, daughter of the late Joseph Sampson of New York and former wife of Mr. Frederick W. Stevens and of Maurice Talleyrand de Perigord, the Duke di Dino, died Friday at her home in the Due Raynard, Paris, in the seventy-first year of her age. She was married in 1864 to Frederick W. Stevens, from whom she was divorced in 1886. Four children were born of this marriage, all of whom survive. Joseph Sampson Stevens of Hicksville, Long Island; Mrs. Frederick H. Allen of Bolton Priory, Pelham Manor; the Countess de Gallifet, whose husband was head of the French army under the Second Empire and led cavalry charges at Sedan, and the Countess Oslowka, whose husband was a Russian and who resided in Paris.

Six months after her divorce Mrs. Stevens married Maurice Talleyrand de Perigord, the Duc di Dino. She obtained a divorce from him in 1905, when under the French law, she gave up the name and title and resumed her maiden name. She had spent most of her time in Europe. Some years ago, when she lived in New York, she occupied the house at the southwest corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-seventh street.

As Mrs. Stevens the deceased was well known in Newport, occupying for many seasons the house on the corner of Bellevue avenue and Perry street now known as "Elm Court" and occupied by Mrs. Frances Burke-Roche. Her son, Mr. Joseph Sampson Stevens, has been a frequent visitor to Newport in recent years, and her daughter, Mrs. Allen, has frequently been guest of the Misses Wetmore at "Chateau-sur-Mer."

ALICE LLOYD TO BE SEEN HERE.

Last Saturday night, after a successful season of 46 weeks in the United States and Canada, Alice Lloyd, considered England's foremost singing comedienne, who has been starring in "Little Miss Fix It" closed her season in Boston. She sailed on the Lusitania Tuesday for he home in England, after having arranged with her managers to be on hand in time to open the new Colonial Theatre in Providence on Labor day. She will be seen in her successful play at the Newport Opera House, Saturday evening, September 14, with the company which has been playing with her in Boston.

THE ISLAND PARK FIREWORKS.

The effect of fireworks when exploded near the water is always much more beautiful than an exhibition on land. This seems to be true especially of the displays of Italian goods which have been given weekly at Island Park. While these exhibitions contain a number of set pieces they are especially notable for their bombs, rockets, girandoles and other high-air pieces, which the seen to good advantage on the shores of the bay at Island Park. Next week there will be again a change of program. The feature piece is entitled "The Canopy of the Gods," and is a spectacular effect in the air with a canopy of fiery colors of all the shades of the spectrum.

BURST INTO FOUR PIECES.

Fragments of Projectile Fired at Fort Greble Spread Over Wide Area.

National Guard Make a Number of Apparent Hits, and Now Ready to Break Camp.

The National Guardsmen had an excellent day for their service target practice at Fort Greble, for the weather was cool and the air clear. Quite a breeze was blowing across the range, and this was the only disagreeable feature. There were a number of apparently near if not real hits, but the figures have not been announced. At both Batteries Hale and Mitchell the discharge set fire to the grassy slopes in front, and in the latter battery firing was suspended while lines of hose were run and streams of water turned on the blaze in the parched grass.

During the firing of the 10-inch guns in Battery Hale there was an occurrence which caused the regular officers to do some thinking. One of the shells burst into four pieces when it left the gun and the fragments were distributed over a wide area, one landing at Fort Getty. It must have been an imperfect projectile and it is well that the course was clear of all vessels and the range was not over land. It has been considered that in target practice the zone of danger is only in the immediate locality of the target but the possibilities if projectiles are to go to pieces like this one are too serious to dwell upon. The company loses the shot in this case and the officials at Washington will have food for reflection, but there might have been much more to it.

Camp will be broken after breakfast Sunday morning; that is, the Second district men will pack up their personal belongings and march off, taking the ferry to Saunderstown. The plan is to have them arrive there about the time the First District troops arrive by trolley from Providence, and thus there will be a simple transfer of passengers and baggage to the cars on the return trip. The First Corps will take possession of the camp just vacated, and at the end of its tour will return to Quonset the tentage which the Second brought down. It will be a division of labor which will lighten the task of both, and while the Second had the work of pitching camp in the rain, it remains to be seen what the First District has to contend with.

The present tour of duty forecasts a possible re-organization measure in the legislature next winter, though the National Guard has only recently been much changed to make its conform to the army requirements. The recent re-organization compelled the retirement of many of the higher officers of the militia, because the state does not support a body large enough for the number of officers which it had. There was talk at the recent legislative session of having a chief of Artillery and staff, which would dispense with the district commanders and their staffs. Major Greene, ordnance officer for the Guard, is in camp this year and it is said aspires to be chief of artillery. Color is lent to the report that work for a re-organization is already under way by the fact that Representative Eaton is a visitor at the camp and that he and Major Greene have been rather active in certain directions.

Except for the fact that Newport has a naval militia division, the city has little reason now for interest in the military affairs of the state beyond the tax paid for maintenance. Of all the high officers still serving, not one comes from this section of the state.

ORDERED IN FIRST RESERVE.

The New Hampshire to be Replaced by The Alabama in Second Division of Fleet.

Battleship New Hampshire, which was injured in collision with the Commonwealth, has been ordered placed in first reserve and the Alabama in full commission, July 25 or as soon thereafter as practicable, at the navy yard, New York, the Alabama taking the place of the New Hampshire in the Second division of the Atlantic fleet. Captain James H. Oliver has been detached from the command of the New Hampshire and ordered to command the Alabama, and Commander C. F. Preston has been detached from the command of the Alabama and ordered to command the New Hampshire. Lieutenant Commanders Farmer Morrison, F. L. Chadwick and F. J. Horne are detached from the New Hampshire and ordered to the Alabama as senior engineer officer, executive officer and navigator respectively.

Lieutenants (junior grade) G. C. Logan, Harry Campbell and G. H. Bowdey; Ensigns R. M. Doyle, Jr., L. A. Davidson, E. M. Williams, T. J. McCauley, W. D. Brereton, Jr. C. C. Kenkow, M. M. Fenner, W. C. Barnes and G. F. Parrott, Jr.; Midshipmen Hans Friz, J. A. Saunders, O. W. Bagby, and C. H. Wright; Surgeon R. T. Orris, Gunner R. S. Bulger, and Machinists R. K. Sanford, Jr., and W. H. Muelhause, are detached from the New Hampshire and ordered to the Alabama.

Chief Carpenter R. H. Preble is detached from the works of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company and ordered to the Alabama.

Chief Machinist K. D. Grant is detached from the Birmingham and ordered to the Alabama.

CAPSIZED WHILE JIBING.

Sailors from the Mayrant Rescued by Her Power Boat, One in a Bad Condition.

There was a shipwreck in the harbor Friday afternoon about 5:30. A sailing cutter from the Mayrant was out with some sailors, and turning at the Breakwater light in a stiff northwester they jibed the boat, which went over and the sailors were in the water. The power boat of the Mayrant, with Lieutenant Commander Nelson on board, went quickly to the rescue and pulled the men out of the water. One had a close call, being caught under the boat and when he was rescued was in bad condition. He was landed at the breakwater and men worked on him for some time before he recovered. Had it not been for the quick rescue of the power boat this man, and possibly another of the crew, would have been lost, for conditions were rather critical after the boat went over.

SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENTS.

Mrs. Drexel's Dinner Followed by Informal Dancing, Many Guests Gathering at "Fairholm."

Lieutenant Commander William R. White, U. S. N., gave a luncheon on the Utah, his guests including Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Miss Marguerite Shonts, Miss Janet Fish, Miss Louise Roper and the Messrs. Sedgwick.

The officers at Fort Adams gave a dance Friday evening which was largely attended.

The Clam Bake Club will have a bake this afternoon at the club house at Easton's Point. Dinners will be given this evening by Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly at "Vinland," Mrs. Arthur Carroll at her mother's residence, "Inglenook," and Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Thomas C. Hart at the Torpedo Station. Mrs. French Vanderbilt will give a dance at "Harbourview."

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish will give a luncheon Sunday at "Crossways."

A PERPETUAL POLO TROPHY.

Cup Given by Mrs. E. C. Post in Memory of William K. Thorn, to be Played for Annually.

Mrs. Edward C. Post has given a cup to be played for on the Newport polo field, as a perpetual trophy in memory of the late William K. Thorn, a committee consisting of Messrs. August Belmont, R. L. Agassiz and T. Suffern Taller to act as trustees of the cup. The trophy is given to the Westchester Polo Club, with the understanding that it is to be played for each year on the Newport polo field, the winning team to have its name inscribed upon it and each member to receive a medal, given also by Mrs. Post.

Mr. Thorn, in whose memory the cup is given, was for many years one of the leading polo men in Newport, playing on the old lot on Morton avenue with James Gordon Bennett, Foxhall P. Keene, Stanley Mortimer, Thomas Hitchcock Jr., and the late Raymond Belmont. He was a member of the American team which played on the polo lot in this city August 24 and 28, 1886, for the Hurlingham cup, which was then captured by the English team and was won back by another American team in 1909. Playing with Mr. Thorn on this team, nearly 25 years ago, were Messrs. Raymond Belmont, now dead; Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., and Foxhall Keene. Mr. Thorn owned the cottage on the corner of Bellevue and Narragansett avenues, which he occupied several years with his mother, but in the latter years of his life lived in Pau, France. He was of the old school and had many friends among all classes in Newport.

ACTING UNDER ORDERS.

Policeman So Vigilant That Mrs. Belmont Couldn't Have Her Picture Taken.

According to a story which is being told summer residents cannot have their photographs taken in the public highways of Newport, even if they so desire. Since the Rhode Island courts have decided that one may photograph a person at a distance of 15 feet the police have been instructed to be "artful dodgers" and keep between camera men and the subjects they would take. The story is that on the day of the opening of the Woman Suffrage headquarters a photographer requested Mrs. Belmont to pose for him. She entered her automobile at the door and the man prepared to shoot. A policeman stepped into the foreground and dodged about so that the artist could not take the picture. Mrs. Belmont is credited with asking the reason for such a performance when she was willing, and the officer is said to have replied: "Orders Madam."

THE ST. CLARE HOME CONCERT.

At the concert to be given for the St. Clare Home at Freebody Park the program will include vocal and instrumental music and a display of moving pictures appropriate to the occasion. Leo Shoobs concert orchestra has prepared a special instrumental program and among the artists whose services are enlisted are the Lombardi Duo of operatic vocalists, Leon Rogue, imitator of musical instruments; Pentelle and Valorie in new duets, Bessie LaCount, the Arion Trio and the Lucier sisters.

ANXIOUS TO SEE THE PICTURES.

Crowd at the Art Association's Private View So Great as to Make This Difficult.

The private view of the first exhibition of the Art Association of Newport, Friday afternoon, had a large attendance. The Hunt studio on Church street, the home of the Art Association, has been made attractive and the garden is pleasing with palms. Each member is entitled to five tickets for each private view, and it would seem that all available cards were used. In fact, the first floor and the gallery as well were so crowded most of the time that it was impossible to see the pictures to advantage. The paintings are worth careful inspection and the public has a great privilege in the opportunity to see the exhibition.

During the afternoon the four song of Rev. Arthur Rogers played on violin, viola and cello and iced tea and cake were served.

ORGANIZING A CIRCUS.

Large Amount of Work Done in Winter Quarters and in Advance of the Show Itself.

A show like Downie & Wheeler's double circus employs many people, including blacksmiths, painters, carpenters, barbers, laundrymen, doctors, a lawyer, detectives, cooks, trainmen, butchers, waiters, seamstresses, harness makers, musicians, shoemakers, a postmaster, hostlers, electricians, and many other mechanics and artisans, besides the performers, all working for a common interest. The task of organizing this traveling city is no small one. In Downie & Wheeler's winter quarters, the home of these new giant shows, the work began last September.

The important thing is to engage the acts, and this is done by agents who, during the winter, visit the amusement halls of Europe and Asia in search of novelties. In the ring barns the trainers are putting the various animal acts into shape. A few weeks before the season begins the various performers who have been resting during the winter arrive to practice their acts, that they may be perfected by the time the regular rehearsals begin, and all winter the sound of the anvil and the mallet is heard at the circus quarters.

Meantime, the advertising cars have started out in advance, while the various contracting agents are on their way, arranging for lots, billboard space, etc. Then there is the 24-hour man, who takes his date from being 24 hours ahead of the show, arranging for wood, water, food and ice, besides attending to many other matters.

AN AUTOMOBILE MIX-UP.

There was an automobile mix-up Friday night in front of the Government Landing. A machine came up from the Landing and mixed it up with another passing along Thames street, which was blocked by a team. A fender was bent and other damage done, but the women in the Thames Street automobile were not injured, as some of the bystanders feared they would be. Then the vagrant machine backed down again, and when it next emerged on Thames street it nearly ran down two bicyclists going by.

ORGANIZATION OF COUNCIL COMMITTEES.

The committee on utilities, appointed after the last meeting of the Council, has organized by the election of John B. Sullivan, as chairman and William J. Carr as secretary. The committee on Almy pond has organized by the election of Joseph P. Cotton as chairman and William H. Gilliam as secretary. All the secretary work of both committees will probably fall, as usual, on the clerk, C. W. R. Callahan. The committee on salaries will meet next Wednesday evening.
